Anti-German Demonstrations. The London Telegraph describes the anti-German demonstration in Paris last Tuesday evening as serious. It says the mobs in the neighborhood of the Eden Theatre, where Wagner's "Lohengrin" was being performed, shouted : "A bas L'Allemagne!" (down with Germany); "Vive la France, a Berlin!" (on to Berlin); "A bas Bismarck!" (down with Bismarck); "Give us back our clocks!" (referring to Strasburg). Last evening the demonstrations were renewed. A mob, composed of students and gamins, marched about, shouting. They halted in front of the Army and Navy Club, and there cried out. "Vive l'Armee Francais!" "Vive Boulanger!" "A Berlin!" Another mob went to the building occupied by the Russian embassy, shouting "Vive la France!" "Vive la Russie!" "Vive l'Alliance Russo-Francaise!" The leaders of this mob then proposed to their followers to march to the German embassy. The mob proceeded in the direction of the Place de la Concorde, singing the air, "Lampions" to the words of the song "Nos Pendules" (our clocks), but it was stopped by the police and turned away before it could reach the and turned away before it could reach the German embassy. The mob then returned to the Place de l'Opera, and there gradually dispersed. The manager of the Eden Theatre has decided to suspend the performances of "Lohengrin" and of other productions of Wagner in that place of amusement. The government has decided to prosecute the publishers of the paper La Revanche for publishing an article entitled "Down with the Germans," and calculated to arouse a warlike feeling among the French people against Germany. Anti-German demonstrations continue to be made in various sections

He said that he was convinced that after the excitement over the Schae-beles affair had calmed down, courteous re lations would continue to prevail between France and Germany. M. Flourens, replying, said that pacific sentiments had never ceased to inspire the action of the French government during the entire controversy.

The publishers of La Revanche have been summoned to appear before the Tribunal of Justice on Wednesday next.

Yesterday evening the Place de L'Opera and the Rue Auber were more crowded than

New Mexico's Earthquake.

A dispatch from Albuquerque, N. M., says that no additional results of the earthquake have been developed. Albuquerque seems to have been on the extreme northwest extremity of the wave, which had nearly spent its force before reaching there. The shocks at Sabinal, about forty miles south, were French's, 93 and 95 King st. much more severe. Two tremors were felt, both in northeast and southwest directions. The first occurred at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon, producing a slight oscillation. then came a pause of nearly a minute, dur-ing which an ominous "something" in the atmosphere added a sensation of suffocation to the feeling of awful suspense. This was broken by a terrible vibration which created the utmost consternation among the inhabitthe utmost consternation among the inhabitants. Men, women and children rushed precipitately into the streets, in numerous cases only in time to escape with their lives from tottering buildings. Sabinal is one of the relics of New Mexican antiquity, and the adobe dwellings of the natives were so weakened by age as to fall an easy prey to earthquake. A number of them were leveled to the ground, and the damage, although not great in the value of the buildings and household goods destroyed, will prove a sehousehold goods destroyed, will prove a serious loss to the poor families whose homes were ruined.

SENSATION IN A CHURCH .- Joseph Gessler, a Brooklyn carpenter, created consid erable excitement one night recently at Rev. Father Raber's church in that city. During the services Gessler arose and shouted to the priest: "You're a humbug, and your doctrines are a humbug." Nearly every person in the church arose to see who the individual was who was so audacious, and Gessler was regularly fine and womaning with the church arose to see who the individual was who was so audacious, and Gessler was regularly fine and womaning with the church arose to see the control of the church arose to see the church aros ler was gesticulating and mumbling over something about humbugging priests, when one of the trustees, took him by the arm and tried to lead him out. Gessler drew back, pulled out his pocket knife and stabbed the trustee upon the hand. The police subsequently entered the church and took Gessler into custody.
